

but it can also bring pressures, emotional load, and limited opportunities for staff to access reflective support.

BeSide Therapy Cornwall provides online, person-centred counselling specifically designed for people working in education, with appointments available after school hours.

Meeting online allows you to talk from your own private space, away from the school environment, while maintaining full confidentiality.

This separation can make it easier to explore how you're feeling, think things through, and focus on your own wellbeing.

Whether you're navigating stress, relationships, boundaries, or the emotional impact of your role, BeSide Therapy Cornwall offers a supportive space where you can be heard and understood.

Helpful Info:

Online sessions via Microsoft Teams	Accessible, flexible, and easy to join from your own private space.
Late-afternoon and early-evening appointments	Designed to fit around the school day and give you space after work.
Fully confidential sessions	Held securely, with clear boundaries and safeguarding in place.
Six-session block with a review	Time to settle into the work, with space to reflect on progress and next steps.
Payment via PayPal	Simple, secure, and straightforward.
Person-centred counselling contract	Grounded in empathy, autonomy, and respect, with no judgement and no advice-giving.
A space that is separate from school	Supporting you to explore your experiences without the pressures of the workplace.